

War of Words

Ink dripping from the pen,
The paper wet with words,
With the wondrous writings of the artist.
A war of the creator and creation,
Between the paper and the pen.
It's David and Goliath,
But the artist stays steadfast in his pursuit for magic.
Is it an offering to the gods
so that Olympus may look kindly on the world?
I do not know.
But with his sling and stones, no more,
The Goliath will be slain one day.

Riki Roma